

Additional Information for California Residents (Last Updated: November 2024)

In this section, we provide additional information to California residents about how we handle their personal information, as required under California privacy laws including the California Consumer Privacy Act (“CCPA”). This section does not address or apply to our handling of publicly available information lawfully made available by state or federal government records or other personal information that is exempt under the CCPA.

A. Categories of Personal Information Under the CCPA

While our collection, use and disclosure of personal information varies based upon our relationship and interactions with the particular California resident, in this section we describe, generally, how we have collected, sold and disclosed personal information about California residents in the prior 12 months (from the Last Updated date above).

Sources of Personal Information. We may collect personal information from the following sources:

- directly from the California resident

Categories of Personal Information Sold, Collected and Disclosed. The table below identifies the categories of personal information (as defined by the CCPA) we have collected about California residents, as well as how we have sold or disclosed such information for a business purpose. For more information about the business and commercial purposes for which we collect, use and disclose personal information, please see the Purpose and the Recipients sections above.

Our “Sale” of Your Personal Information. Under the CCPA, a “sale” includes disclosing or making available personal information to a third-party in exchange for monetary compensation or other benefits or value. While we do not disclose personal information to third parties in exchange for monetary compensation, we may disclose or make available certain categories of personal information to third parties in order to receive certain benefits or services, such as when we make browsing information available to third party ad companies (through third party tags on our Sites) in order to improve and measure our ad campaigns and reach users with more relevant ads and content. As defined by the CCPA, we may “sell” certain categories of personal information as follows:

- Identifiers, Commercial Information, Usage Data and Inferences to third party advertising networks, data analytics providers
- California Residents’ Rights

CCPA Rights. In general, California residents have the following rights with respect to their personal information:

- Do-not-sell (opt-out): to opt-out of our sale of their personal information. Although we may “sell” personal information as defined by the CCPA (see here), we do not sell personal information about California residents who we know are younger than 16 years old. California residents may opt out of sales of their personal information by us, by submitting a request here <https://privacycanali.whistlelink.com/>, or by using our preference manager <https://us.canali.com/cookies> to opt out of “sales” via third party tags and cookies on our Sites.
- Right of deletion: to request deletion of their personal information that we have collected about them and to have such personal information deleted (without charge), subject to certain exceptions.
- Right to know: with respect to the personal information we have collected about them in the prior 12 months, to require that we disclose the following to them (up to twice per year and subject to certain exemptions):
 - categories of personal information collected;
 - categories of sources of personal information;
 - categories of personal information we have disclosed or shared with a third party for a business purpose;
 - categories of third parties to whom we have sold their personal information and for each the specific categories of personal information sold;
 - the business or commercial purposes for collecting or selling personal information; and
 - a copy of the specific pieces of personal information we have collected about them.

- Right to non-discrimination: the right not to be subject to discriminatory treatment for exercising their rights under the CCPA.

Submitting CCPA Requests. California residents may submit CCPA requests to opt out of sales, requests to know (access) and requests to delete their personal information through one of the following methods:

- Online at <https://privacycanali.whistlelink.com/>
- By phone at +1-855-893-8164 (toll free)
- By email at [privacy@canali.it]

In addition, California residents may opt of our “sales” of their personal information by submitting a request here <https://privacycanali.whistlelink.com/> or by using our preference manager <https://us.canali.com/cookies> to opt out of “sales” via third party tags and cookies on our Sites.

When you submit a request to know or a request to delete, we will take steps to verify your request by matching the information provided by you with the information we have in our records. You must complete all required fields on our webform / send an email at the address below by specifying in the subject “CCPA REQUEST”. In some cases, we may request additional information in order to verify your request or where necessary to process your request. If we are unable to adequately verify a request, we will notify the requestor.

Your Privacy Rights Under California Shine the Light Law. Under California’s “Shine the Light” law (Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.83), California residents who provide us certain personal information are entitled to request and obtain from us, free of charge, information about the personal information (if any) we have shared with third parties for their own direct marketing use. Such requests may be made once per calendar year for information about any relevant third-party sharing in the prior calendar year. To submit a “Shine the Light” request, [email us at [privacy@canali.it], and include in your request a current California address and your attestation that you are a California resident.

For more information about our privacy practices, you may contact us at [privacy@canali.it].
